THE TARIFF.

When the new tariff bill was brought before parliament in the early days of the session the large majority of the people of the country who wanted tariff reform, or in other words tariff for revenue or an approach to that, were divided in their opinions as to its merits. Some were satisfied that the advance which it had made towards lower duties was sufficient for the present needs of the country; others were pleased with it for what it did, and hoped to gain still further concessions on future occasions; and still others looked upon it with favor, not so much because it was an abandonment of the practice as of the principle of a high tariff for protective purposes. It is true, some chronic kickers declared that it was a sham and a fraud, that it was not an abandonment of the principle of special protection of certain classes, but only a more or less clever attempt at getting the people to accept shadow for substance until another general election could be carried victoriously through. But these were in an insignificant minority and their voices were scarcely heard much less heeded. If the measure had been pushed rapidly through parliament exactly as it was introduced, and the government had at once appealed to the country, there is every probability that they would have been returned to power on the merits of their policy of tariff reform. Unfortunately this was not the course which events have taken. The manufacturers, ever greedy, thoroughly schooled for the past sixteen years in the idea that they have a right to have all four feet in the public trough, were not satisfied to accept the situation and recognize in the government their true friend who was only, as it might be said, casting out which could best be spared and whose sacrifice was necessary to enable the protection ship to ride out the coming election gale. Delegation after delegation representing this that and the other interest, trust or combine hurried to Ottawa, a veritable army of Coxeyites, each individual determined that he should not suffer whatever happened the rest and all determined that the country and the very government they were bulldozing might go to the dogs but the manufacturers must be protected up to the last notch. This was a feature of the case upon which the government had not calculated, and with which they did not carry heavy enough metal to deal. Then came Mr. Foster's repeated discovery of clerical errors in the bill; the correction of every error however, strange to say, being in favor of the manufacturer; then came absolute changes in items without even the excuse of an error; then came new methods of valuation in the custom houses whereby the reduction was reduced so as to be little or no reduction at all in many cases. With all this came discussion and careful analysis of the merits of the bill through out, with the result that the class of critics last alluded to as being in an inconsiderable and unconsidered minority are growing in members every day, and bid fair to be a majority by the time the elections come off, unless the bill is got through quickly and without any more of these peculiar alterations. The course which events have taken has been so peculiar that it has given rise to a great deal of comment, and one journal, the Montreal Herald, has made bold to propound a theory that however wide it may be of the actual truth has a much better ground work of established fact that many other widely accepted theories on many much more important subjects. The Herald's theory regarding the government's professed attempt at tariff reform, and its evident abandonment of it, is that the tariff bill as introduced was only a threat to the manufacturers that if they did not contribute with sufficient liberality to the funds for the coming election the bill would be given full effect, with the understanding that in proportion as they contributed to the election fund the duties would be put back to, or as nearly as possible to, the old figure. The Herald may be incorrect, but the plain course of events lends such color to the assertion that it is finding many believers. Except for the personal credit of the members of the government it matters little to the public whether the harking back from tariff reform is due to the incapacity of the manufacturers or the incapacity of the government. The government is not making good its pledges, and this being the case when the election comes off its members or supporters cannot be trusted to do what the present premier and finance minister so lately and so clearly pledged themselves to do, namely, to pass a substantial measure of tariff reform. It is a clear case that the government and the manufacturers stand united. It is for the producers of the country to say whether or not this condition of affairs is in the interest of the country's production.

FISHERY REGULATIONS.

A new set of fishery regulations applying to Manitoba and the Northwest have been gazetted and are now in force. The following are the provisions of particular interest in this section of the country:

1. There shall be two kinds of licenses for fishing in the Province of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, to be designated "commercial licenses" and "domestic licenses," and no licenses shall be granted to any company, firm or persons unless each member of such firm or company or such person is a British subject, resident in Canada, and such a firm or company or person must be the actual owners or proprietors of the business, nets, boats and fishing gear for which the licenses are granted.

4. The fee payable on a "commercial license" for gill-net fishing shall be, for every fishing tag included in such license $20, and in addition a fee of $2 for every thousand yards of net included in the license and for every sailing, trading or other fishing boat included in a "commercial license" a fee of $10 shall be paid, which shall include a limit of 3,000 yards of net to each boat, but in no case shall a "commercial license" be granted to any one company, firm, trader or person for the use of more than the whole 20,000 yards of net, and no Company, firm, trader or person shall have or be interested in more than one "commercial license."

6. Every farmer, settler, or bona fide fisherman, Indian or Half-breed, who is an actual resident of the locality where he proposes to fish, shall be entitled to a "domestic license" (except in the case of a license for seine fishing), shall be entitled to fish with not more than 300 yards of net. A fee of $2 shall be paid for each "domestic license."

6. Every farmer, settler, or bona fide fisherman, Indian or Half-breed, who is an actual resident of the locality where he proposes to fish, shall be entitled to a "domestic license" (except in the case of a license for seine fishing), shall be entitled to fish with not more than 300 yards of net. A fee of $2 shall be paid for each "domestic license."

Provided always, that special licenses may be issued to Indians or Indian bands permitting them to catch and kill fish in the manner specified in such license for the sole purpose of providing themselves or their bands with food.

18. No trader, peddler, hawker, or any other person whomsoever, shall engage in buying, trading, or otherwise obtain or be in possession of fish of any description, caught or killed by Indians, half-breeds, or any other person whomsoever, on any Indian reserve, or elsewhere during the close seasons fixed by law, and in which Indians are permitted by license or otherwise to catch fish for the sole purpose of providing food for themselves or their bands with food.

20. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries having determined that it is necessary in the public interest, every dam, slide, or other obstruction, made or to be made, across or in any river or stream in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, shall have the necessary fish pass as provided by section 13 of the Fisheries Act, and no net or other device shall be used to catch or kill fish, or obstruct their passage up or down any river or stream within 200 yards of any such dam, slide, sluice or fish-pass therein; nor in any other parts of such rivers and streams, without leaving at least one-half of the main channel thereof freely freed from the operations of any such net, or other device, as aforesaid.

6. The holder of a "domestic license" for net fishing for sturgeon, shall be entitled to use not more than 300 yards of gill-net, with a mesh of not less than 12 inches extension measure.

14. No one shall use a bag-net, trap-net or "fishpound," for capturing fish in the waters of Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, except under the following conditions:

poisonous matter, dead, or decaying fish, saw-dust and mill rubbish, or any other deleterious substances, shall not be thrown into, or be allowed to pass into, or be left or remain in any water frequented by fish in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories; and any person violating this regulation shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars.

16. These regulations shall apply to Indians and Half-breeds, as well as to settlers and all other persons; provided always, that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries may from time to time set apart for the exclusive use of the Indians, such waters as he may deem necessary, and may grant to Indians or their bands, free license to fish during the close seasons, for themselves or their bands, for the purpose of providing food for themselves, but not for the purpose of sale, barter or traffic.

17. The use of explosive materials of any kind to catch or kill fish is prohibited in the waters of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and the use of spears, grapnel-hooks, neoges, nishagans and firearms for killing fish is also prohibited.

Provided always, that special licenses may be issued to Indians or Indian bands permitting them to catch and kill fish in the manner specified in such license for the sole purpose of providing themselves or their bands with food.

18. No trader, peddler, hawker, or any other person whomsoever, shall engage in buying, trading, or otherwise obtain or be in possession of fish of any description, caught or killed by Indians, half-breeds, or any other person whomsoever, on any Indian reserve, or elsewhere during the close seasons fixed by law, and in which Indians are permitted by license or otherwise to catch fish for the sole purpose of providing food for themselves or their bands with food.

19. This kindness, not only from the members of the church of which her husband was the minister but also from the members of the other churches in the town, makes her feel that in a land of strangers she has very many warm friends. She does not forget in her thanks the two societies of which her husband was a member for the kindly way in which they came forward. At present she can hardly say what she intends to do in the future, but whatever part she may take, whether to remain here or go to live with her more immediate relatives, she will ever remember the people of Edmonton with the kindest feelings.

A MYSTERY CLEARED.

A number of ghastly relics at present in the mounted police station Edmonton, in charge of the police there, clear up the mysterious disappearance of a young miner in the fall of '92 and point to a tragedy that lacks nothing in the horror of its outlines as they can be traced from the circumstances so far known. In the spring of 1892 a young man named George Steve came to Edmonton from Calgary. He had come to Calgary from the state of Washington and was a native of New Brunswick. He was industrious, of fairly steady habits, and about 28 years of age. Being without means he took employment for a time on the street improvements that were being made that season, and afterwards some time in August, procured a miner's outfit and went up the river on a mining trip. He is supposed to have had good success and returned in a few weeks with enough gold to pay off some little scores and to lay in further supplies. About the middle of September he started down the river with a man named Williams, intending to mine as long as the season would admit or perhaps go on to Battleford to winter. Williams returned in a couple of weeks alone, but Steve never returned nor was he ever heard of afterwards. In the spring of '93 his uncle Dimock Steve, then of Canmore and now of Sandy lake, placed an advertisement asking for information as to his whereabouts in the BULLETIN, but no information was ever received. Williams, who went down the river with him left Edmonton, soon after his return and went to the vicinity of Wetaskiwin. While in Edmonton he is reported to have said that Steve went down to Battleford. At last during the past winter the mounted police were informed of the case and of the suspicion of foul play. In accordance with information secured and suspicions confirmed, search was made down the river before the snow left and at a point about fourteen miles below Fort Saskatchewan, an abandoned miner's grizzly was found and traces of a camp. Depth of snow prevented further search at the time, but when the snow had gone a further search was made. The camp was found, and certain articles which were known to have been in Steve's possession. It was found that a large fire had been built near where the tent had stood, in which first the tent and other stuff had been burned. In the ground under the place where the fire had been made a long hollow had been dug and in this hollow were certain ashes and cinders which have been declared to be human remains. These remains were brought to Edmonton on Monday last and on Tuesday morning Inspector Snyder left for Wetaskiwin to arrest Williams on suspicion of having murdered Steve.

SUPREME COURT.

Marriaggi vs de Fouvent. Action for $108, balance remaining unpaid of an account of $170, for liquor supplied, and for cash lent. The defence contended that under sub-section 4 of section 88 of the Northwest Territories act, a Northwest judge had no jurisdiction in respect of any action for the price of any intoxicating liquor or intoxicant or of any action by any person on any promissory note, bill of exchange, cheque, draft or other document or writing whatsoever, the consideration for which was any intoxicating liquor or intoxicant. This provision was intended to apply to the Northwest as it was under prohibition, but was not repealed with the other prohibitory provisions of the act, and leaves wholesale as well as retail liquor dealers at the mercy of their debtors.

The plaintiff under English authorities contended that he had the privilege of setting off the cash received on account against the illegal items, and that therefore the court had jurisdiction for the balance of the account sued upon. His Lordship held with the defendant that he had no jurisdiction to try any action for intoxicating liquor or the consideration of which was an intoxicant, but also held that the plaintiff under his contention had the right to appropriate money paid on account to satisfy first all illegal items; and gave judgment for $108 and costs. S. S. Taylor for plaintiff, J. C. F. Bown and A. Prince for defendant.

ICE. ICE. ICE.

Rev. Principal Grant, when in Toronto attending a meeting of the Presbyterian Foreign mission committee, and being interviewed regarding the coming elections said Ontario could not afford to dispense with the services of Sir Oliver Mowat. He said, "When we look at the revelations we have had since 1891, corruption in so many quarters, we wondered if there was a clean spot anywhere. We are forced to ask what would have happened to the richest province in the Dominion if any easy going politician had charge of it's strong box?" Another reason given by Principal Grant, why Mowat should be retained, was that the Premier who had been so loyal had in the last two or three years taken a decided stand for the continuance of British connection. Those who favored British connection, he declared, could not afford to dismiss him. He also said there could be no doubt Mowat stood now for the fair treatment of minorities, which was the only way to make possible a united Canadian people.
